

Question 1: Why do we need Optional Chaining in JavaScript?

Ans: To safely access nested properties without causing errors.

Question 2: How can you use Optional Chaining with Dynamic Property Names?

Ans: By enclosing the property name in square brackets `[]` with `?..`

Question 3: In what scenario would you use Optional Chaining with Function Calls?

Ans: When calling a function that may not exist.