

Question 1: How to access the first object in the given array?

Ans: Using the 0 index

Question 2: What is the purpose of the uuid() function?

Ans: To generate a unique identifier for an object

Question 3: What is the primary issue associated with callback hell in JavaScript?

Ans: It makes the code difficult to read and maintain due to nested callback functions

Question 4: How can callback hell be mitigated in JavaScript?

Ans: By refactoring code to use promises, async/await, or other asynchronous patterns