Question 1: Which method is commonly used to select multiple elements in the DOM using their tag names in JavaScript?

Ans: getElementsByTagName()

Question 2: What is the purpose of the querySelectorAll() method in JavaScript?
Ans: It selects all elements that match a specified CSS selector and returns them as a static NodeList.

Question 3:How can you select an element with the ID "example" using JavaScript?
Ans: document.getElementById("example")

Question 4:What does the querySelector() method return in JavaScript if no matching element is found?

Ans: null

Question 5: Which method is used to select elements by their class name in JavaScript?

Ans: getElementsByClassName()